TYPHOID FEVER.

Prematurely Ends The Life of Orlin Moore.

Death Comes Saturday Morning and Burial Was Sunday Afternoon.

GENERAL SORROW PREVAILS MARION.

Orlin Moore, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Moore, died Saturday morning shortly after nine o'clock, of typhoid fever. He was confined to his bed for just two weeks, but had really been sick for several days before he consented to give up. The disease was in a most virulent form and the young man's condition was critical almost from the time he was prostrated. Everything possible was done for his relief. All the science known to the medical profession was brought to bear, skilled and devoted nursing and attentions from friends and relatives were given without stint, but all proved unavailing before the grim Reaper, Death.

He was taken just at the period when he stood at the thresh-hold of manhood, with the vista stretching before him bright with promises of a long life of happiness and the successful achievement of those things which tend to the betterment, advancement and uplifting of mankind. Orlin was in his seventeenth year. He was a member of the class in the Marion High School which would have graduated next year and already his plans were made for continuing, to a well-rounded completion, his education in college. He was healthy and robust, of an active temperament, and possessed an intellect which was quick to receive impressions of instruction and was retentive to an unusual degree. He was never satisfied unless busy and he was constantly planning for further improvement and preparation to take a real man's place in the world's affairs. He was indeed one of nature's noblemen, for every instinct was refined and this had been intensified by a home training until he abhorred anything which approached the coarse, the vulgar or the wrong. He was as modest and retiring as a girl, with a heart and life pure and undefiled, a deep respect and consideration for everyone with whom he was associated, and a love of home, of parents, of brothers and relatives that was all-absorbing and beautiful in the extreme. To him his parents were indeed his counselors, to whom he went for solace in times of trouble or pain and at whose feet he joyously laid as tribute the victories he had won in his boyish world or in school. His three brothers, Virgil, Homer and Nevile, were his boon companions and he was as deeply interested in their affairs and as jealously guard them as he did his own. He was brave in spirit, loyal and devout in his friendship and devout in the profession of Christianity which he made at the age of thirteen years, the which time he had been a faithful and consistent member of the Methodist church. He realized for several days the seriousness of his condition but at no time did he show by word or sign that he feared in the least to go down into the valley and bow of Death, but instead his only regret seemed to be the premature termination of all the bright hopes the future held for him, and the suffering of home and family ties.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence in East Marion, and never in his history was there a larger or more numerously sympathetic gathering of relatives and friends to mingle their tears with those of the bereaved parents and brothers. The services were conducted by the Rev. J. B. Adams of the Methodist church and the songs were sung by Mesdames Fannie Walker, J. H. Orme, Miss Nellie Sutherland, Messrs. Geo. M. Crider and C. S. Nunn.

In his prayer Bro. Adams touchingly asked for Divine aid and comfort for the sorrowing ones. His talk was eloquent and a beautiful tribute to the stalwart character and life of the deceased. The text was John 13:7—"What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter." The preacher stated that, looking at it from the human viewpoint, we could not understand why it was that a promising life like Orlin Moore's should be cut short as it was, but that the ways of God are inscrutable and full of wisdom and that what now seems to be a dark and unexplainable mystery could be made light and the wisdom of it shown when the troubles and trials and tribulations of this vale of tears were over and his loved ones had joined him in Heaven to which happy estate his death was merely the forerunner of his going.

The remains were laid to rest in the new cemetery, the funeral cortège being one of the longest that ever passed through the streets of Marion. An especially touching feature of the procession was the part taken by the members of the 1910 High School class and the Sunday School class to which the young man belonged. Headed by Prof. J. P. Krug, principal of the Marion Graded School, the boys and girls of next year's graduating class marched by two's from the residence to the cemetery. Immediately behind them, and in the same formation, came the young men of the Sunday School class led by the teacher, H. D. Pollard. These intimates of the deceased maintained a position alongside the hearse throughout the entire route, thus forming an escort of honor prompted by the purest motives—those of sincere love, respect and sorrow.

Even to the last details the services were performed by intimate friends, the pall bearers being Messrs. W. R. Yandell, H. K. Woods, J. H. Orme, Geo. M. Crider, J. C. Bourland and T. H. Cochran, the hearse being driven by J. M. Freeman and the grave being rounded up by Senator P. S. Maxwell.

The floral offerings were numerous and handsome and when placed in position covered the mound under which the young man sleeps. The brief services at the Cemetery were impressive and just before these were begun a last invitation was given for the friends to look upon the features of the dead boy who had the appearance of having dropped into a quiet and peaceful sleep. After the burial was over scores of sympathizing friends offered their condolence to the surviving members of the stricken family.

As Bro. Adams said in his talk, it is hard to give up a character like

Orlin Moore, but when we think of the happiness he has shed by his sunny nature, the inventive he has given to his companions and those younger than himself to emulate his example and lead a blameless life, and the comfort, help and pride he was to his parents we should rather give thanks that he was allowed to remain with us as long as he was for the constant blessing derived from association with him and the glorious memory that is left us for the future.

CHICASHAS SOT-CUT.

By Marion in a Sily Contested Battle at Maxell Park.

Cooperider Struck It Twenty men And Allowed at One Hit.

COMPLETE WALK-OFF FOR MARION

Saturday afternoon's game was a complete walk-off for Marion, the Indians being shut out with but one hit and no run. Only four men reached first base and one of these got as far as this, but died there. Cooperider was a great form, and the redskins simply had not the least chance against him. His pitching and the field work behind him would have won against almost any team. Twenty men fanned, Perryman put one out by catching a foul fly, five were caught at first base, and Guess retired the other by holding on to a line drive. One single to center, two hits on balls, and Marion's lone error put four men on bases, but whenever they were there, Cooperider was simply invincible to the batter. In the second inning, two bases on balls put men on first and second and a passed ball advanced them to second and third; nobody was out, and it began to look as if the Indians would score, but Cooperider fanned the next three men, and the last hope of the Chicashas perished.

Jones, the first pitcher put up by the Indians, proved good. Marion could do nothing with him until the fifth, when Cooperider "spiked" up with Marion's first hit, a base on balls to Cannon put him on second, Dixon sacrificed him to third, and he came home on Rochester's infield hit. Cannon scored a moment later on a passed ball, making more than enough to win. Hayes then relieved Jones and Marion made no more in that inning. Atkins went in to pitch the sixth, and did well. Marion had three on bases and nobody out in the sixth, but Atkins struck out three. Marion scored one in the seventh on an error, a passed ball and two hits.

This is Cooperider's fourth game pitched for Marion, and fourth victory, the last three being shut-outs; eight hits have been made off him in the four games, an average of two to the game. During the same games, Marion has made thirty-five hits, and only eight errors. Such pitching with that kind of batting and support from an amateur team, will win nearly every time. Marion is certainly putting up a stiff game, with Kraft and Cooperider pitching, and the boys backing them up in the way they are doing. Besides being an extra good pitcher, Kraft plays a star game at first, and his base-running is a revelation to some of our friends; his continual talking during an inning is a great breaker for the team, as well as being entertaining for the crowd. Those teams who based their hopes of defeating Marion on the fact that Paul Gossage is out of the game are certainly being disappointed. We may lose some games yet, but the teams that do defeat the boys are going to have to play major league ball to do it.

GREAT EXAGERATION.

Of Typhoid Fever in Marion As Shown By Following Article.

Dr. T. A. Frazer Gives Advice to The Citizens of The Town.

HOW TO PREVENT THIS DISEASE.

Various reports have been circulated in regard to typhoid fever in Marion, and Dame Rumor has reported anywhere from twenty-five to one hundred cases of this disease in our midst. These reports have been circulated far and wide, and have done our community great injustice and injury. People of our own town have been principally responsible for these false reports. They take up mere rumor and report it as facts, when they could easily investigate this matter, as any of our physicians would give them the facts in regard to this disease.

It has also been reported that epidemics of other diseases have been present in the community. It is true we have had a great deal of sickness. At least 50 per cent of this sickness should have been prevented. I have made a careful investigation of the situation, consulted every physician in our city, and find that we have had a total of twelve cases of typhoid fever in and around town this year. It is, however, a reproach to any community to have this disease, as it originates in filth and is easily prevented. If every person would work for their own good and the good of the community, No person ever has typhoid fever unless they get the germs into the alimentary canal, and these germs must come from some previous case, where the discharges have not been properly disinfected.

The mouth is the port of entrance for typhoid germs and they enter either with our food or drink. When our water supply becomes contaminated with these filthy little "bungs," we drink them, and therefore, become infected with the disease. If all drinking water was boiled it would obviate this course of danger. Our food may become contaminated by contact with the common house fly, which is a scavenger, and the most filthy place he can find is his "haven of rest."

Then he comes to our kitchens and dining rooms with his feet and legs teeming with the various disease germs, and deposits them on our food. This source of danger can only be overcome by proper screening. Many other diseases originate from filth, and, if we would keep our premises scrupulously clean, be careful what you eat and drink, we could prevent at least 50 per cent of the usual summer sickness, save much suffering and many valuable lives.

Operation May Save Life.

Mrs. L. Kittinger of 209 Oak street, is lying in a very serious condition at St. Mary's hospital. Mrs. Kittinger was operated on yesterday morning for appendicitis. It was necessary that the operation be performed immediately. Drs. Conover and Harpole performed the operation.—Evansville Courier.

Mrs. Kittinger was a former resident of Marion and was in the millinery business during the years of her stay here.

Hon. J. F. Gordon.

Elsewhere in this issue is found the notice which the people with one accord, will be glad to see, we refer to Judge Gordon's announcement for re-election. He has served this the fourth judicial district with honor and distinction, and in few cases have his decisions been reversed. Our people have learned to love and respect him for his honesty and care in the administration of the law. That he will be renominated is a foregone conclusion and we believe the people will endorse him and re-elect him by a large vote in November.

Hon. John L. Grayot.

Elsewhere in these columns will be found the announcement of the Hon. John L. Grayot as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for re-election as Commonwealth's Attorney in the Fourth judicial district. This gives pleasure to the writer and will to the thousands of Democratic hosts who have known him since boyhood and who have honored him heretofore with their votes and their confidence and who will testify at the poles that he has been loyal and true to his trusts in all the walks of life. Mr. Grayot was born and reared at Smithland and makes his home there. He attended school here and ever since those happy days has held as warm place in the hearts of Marion and Crittenden county as his home country and people could possibly entertain for him.

Mr. Grayot is one of most conscientious and painstaking men in official life. He is alert for every point against a criminal, but his warm heart and generous nature would revolt at any injustice done an innocent man. That he is terror to evil doers, is one of the strongest reasons why the people are going to endorse him and keep him where he is.

Annual Home Coming Day.

A perfect day, and a fine audience assembled at the Cumberland Presbyterian church last Sunday to enjoy the annual Rally Day of this church. On account of the former postponement from the third Sunday in June to the third Sunday in July, many out-of-town people could not attend. Among those from abroad were noticed, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams, of Carrollton, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lamb and Miss Jewel, of Clay, Miss Mendoza Deboe, of Blackford and Hon. J. S. Durham, of Neko.

The choir rendered some good music with fine enthusiasm; and altogether the services were not only deeply spiritual and impressive, but pronounced by all very enjoyable. Mr. Biddle preached again on Monday and Tuesday nights.

Miss Mary Cameron, our popular telegraph operator, who also keeps all of the popular weekly and monthly magazines and story papers in her office received the following message late yesterday evening. "Send at once 'A Bashful Man.'

H. Hughes, of the country, was in Marion yesterday.

F. M. Doom, of Salem, a prominent photographer, was in Marion yesterday.

as a candidate for re-election to the office of Circuit Judge of the Fourth Judicial District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The CRITTENDEN RECORD-PRESS goes to its 4,000 readers this week under a change of ownership and under new editorial management, N. E. Calmes having leased the plant from S. M. Jenkins for the term of 17 months, with the privilege and expectation of buying at any time during this period. The new Editor, while a stranger to many of you, comes from the good old town of Sturgis, in the proud and rich county of Union to a town and county inhabited by as true and loyal citizens as can be found in the Commonwealth of the time-honored State of Kentucky, to cast his lot with them for ever and aye. The aim of the Editor will be to devote his whole time and energy in an effort to make the RECORD-PRESS second to no county paper in the State, and above all, to protect the interests of the people of Crittenden county. Its politics will be Democratic and yet realizing the fact that the good Republicans of the proud old county of Crittenden, have no party organ, its columns will be open to them for a fair deal. In no instance will an article from either side be accepted that is calculated to stir up strife or is not clean. If a man gets the idea in his head that he is bound to raise hell, let him do so in his own neighborhood, at home and not through the columns of the RECORD-PRESS. In leaving my native country, Union, where I have friends I love with the love that Jonathan had for David and where my sweet mother sleeps the long sleep in the light of the same sun that warms and makes bright and glad the hearts of God's people every where, I do so with the full knowledge that I am casting my lot with as proud and loyal people as live under the banner of Old Glory and to this people I take off my hat. In casting my eye about for a good town I found none that suited me so well as Marion, and here, for weal or woe I cast my lot with her proud people and to stand loyal to them and the citizenship of Crittenden in their struggle for right and supremacy.

THE BOYCOTT.

The large number of deaths among babies in the recent severely warm weather has been altogether out of proportion to the number in previous years from the same cause. The reason given by one doctor, is that the babies have not been taken out enough in the air. In his own practice he said he knew of three babies whose lives could have been saved if they had been taken out for rides on the street cars.

The parents of these babies did not have automobiles or horses. They couldn't afford to hire from the livery stable. But the street cars were running and six rides for a quarter were within their means. But because 77 men were standing out for five or six preferred runs—not that they wanted them so much for themselves, but because they didn't want other employees of the company to have them—the parents of these babies would not take them out riding. These three instances are from the observation of one physician. There may have been many others.

The loss of these three babies, was a pretty severe sacrifice to sympathy for men who refused to return to work because they could not out five or six crews of old employees from the five or six preferred runs they had. Wasn't it?

Now, the dangerous period of the summer is yet to come—the last half of July and the month of August. How many more babies are to be sacrificed to this boycott which can never result in anything. It can never give these men the five or six preferred runs. Change the rosy cheeks of every cooing, dimpled baby in this city to the deadly pallor and the drawn and wasted look and nothing would come of it. Why then keep up this awful, useless sacrifice?

It is on the poor people that the boycott rests heavily—not upon those with automobiles, and horses and buggies. And it is on the women and babies—not the strong men. Is the sacrifice worth while?

The strike, as a strike, is at an end. All that remains is the boycott. Any talk of "settling the strike" is childish. As was said in The Courier Wednesday:

Any further talk of "settling the strike" should be put in its true light as mischievous. No good or honest purpose can be behind any such suggestion. It can only be with the object of offering false hopes or a fomenting trouble.

This issue is not now the strike, but the boycott. That is all there is left. And the boycott affects the very people who can least stand it. It has cut off for them their amusement parks, their places for getting away from the summer heat, their cheap and convenient method of gaining fresh air and escapement from dust and worry. It has imposed burdens on working people who already have onerous enough burdens. The employer may drive home in the cool breeze, but the little stenographer and the clerk must trudge the hot and dusty streets and all too often because her employer—God pity him—thinks it will help his business.

The issue is not now the strike, for that is ended, but the boycott which is causing infinite hardship and cannot by any possibility have any result. —EVANSVILLE COURIER.

We say Amen to this. We have seen enough of strikes and boycotts to know the affects and better still to know the class most responsible for their evil results.

We call the attention of the public this week to the page ads of the Yandell-Guggenheim Company and Taylor & Cannan. Both of these firms are composed of business men of ability, having long since found out the value of printers ink. That advertising pays is evident or these wide-a-wake firms would not waste their money. They have the goods and make it known to the public through the newspapers. They are public spirited, enterprising men who hold to the policy that what is worth doing is worth doing right. They advertise what they have and make good every word they say. Carefully read their ads and come to them for bargains.

During the service at the grave of Orlin Moore in the beautiful New Marion cemetery Sunday evening while the lovely casket was resting over the grave, one of the most touching sights ever witnessed was the long procession of his class mates and Sunday School class, girls and boys marching up the beautiful drive way, in the glistening evening sunlight, with uncovered heads. It was indeed touching, scarcely an eye witnessing it undimmed by tears. The burial service, in the hands of the well known undertaking establishment of Nunn & Tucker, was conducted without a hitch and was one of the most beautiful ever witnessed. One of the many beautiful and costly floral designs, was a decorated wheel, with one spoke missing.

Street cleaning and weed cutting along the side walks, under the supervision of our worthy marshall, A. S. Cannon, who is also street Commissioner, was begun last week in dead earnest and the improvement was so noticeable that every citizen is likely to enlist in the effort to aid the town of weeds and grass. This move is of more real importance to the health conditions of Marion than perhaps it is credited with.

JAPAN is facing a war debt of $1,120,500,000, with little probability of its being reduced in the next few years. New York, London, Paris, and Berlin are the principal stockholders in the little empire. It must be something awful to be in hell, but next to it is to be in debt.

THE attention of the public is called to the great 20 per cent discount sale add. of Mrs. A. S. Cavender in this week's issue. Mrs. Cavender has a large and well selected stock of Ladies and Misses and children's shoes, ready made underwear, ladies tailored suits and in fact every item to be found in any first-class ladies furnishing establishment.

TAXES DUE.

The state and county taxes are now due and to relieve the sheriff of a great responsibility, should be paid at once. On December 1, 1, as sheriff of Crittenden county, am required to settle with the state, and if I should fail to collect these taxes it would work a hardship on me as well as my bondsmen, to have to pay your taxes. So come up at once and settle your taxes promptly. Do not wait for the penalty, or even a hearing to it, but pay them now if you possibly can.

In the near future I will have appointments for myself or one of my deputies for each precinct and to meet us at the designated time and place to receive a clear receipt for your taxes, will aid your sheriff more than you may perhaps imagine.

Now, as my whole desire is to try to collect the taxes for this year without a single levy, or even penalty, I again urge you to aid me in this by coming to these places or to my office at Marion and settling same.

Hoping every tax payer of Crittenden county will aid me by an early settlement of the common burden resting upon all in proportion as God has blessed him.

I am yours very respectfully,
J. G. ASHER, S. C. C.

H. R. Dyer Gets Arm Caught
In a Threshing Machine.

Late yesterday afternoon Mr. H. R. Dyer, of Henshaw, was seriously injured by a threshing machine at work on Mr. Thos. Parish's farm.

Just how the accident occurred could not be ascertained last night, but his arm was caught in the machine and horribly cut and torn.

An artery was severed and for a while it was feared he would bleed to death. Dr. Nunn was hastily summoned and after doing what he could telephoned for Dr. Lindle of Sturgis, who left at once in an automobile to attend the sufferer.

A telephone message from Henshaw last night stated that the physicians said it would be necessary to amputate the arm in order to save Mr. Dyer's life.—Morganfield Sun.

For Sale.

We are authorized to sell the old Southern Presbyterian church building and lot in Fredonia, Ky.

Those desiring to purchase will please mail bids for same to J. W. Blue, Jr., of Marion, Ky., before the 15th of August 1909.

A Family Reunion.

Dr. T. Abison Frazer on Sunday the 11th attended the reunion of the Frazer family at the home of his father Thos. Frazer near Dalton, Ky. All twelve of the children 8 boys and 4 girls, were present on this happy occasion, for the first time in their lives. No deaths having visited this family during their long lives, though verse of the 23d Psalm is evidently applicable, "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

A Creditable home Institution.

Henry & Henry, the clever owners of the Marion Malle works, are we are glad to say, doing a prosperous and active business. Last week they shipped a number of nice orders to Hopkinsville amounting to several hundred dollars, and are now preparing some beautiful work for shipment to Livingston county. They are good men and butlers.

Damage to Crops | Union Co.

Hon. Jno. W. Blue returned Friday evening from a twodays visit to his farm in Union County. Mr. Blue found the damaged crops from last week's rain, greater than reported. Along the line of the eleven mile Quarry ditch the damage to the crops is estimated at from fifty to seventy-five thousand dollars, while in all the creeks and brash bottoms all over the county the damage is great. Mr. Blue reports 0 acres of fine corn a total loss on his farm, which is under the management of our good friend Dave Wood.

At and near Henshaw the damage was greater than at any other point, Marsh Henshaw alone is reported to have sustained a loss in excess of $5,000.00.

Loss in Henderson County.

"Fully 75 percent. of the crop in our neighborhood was damaged by the recent rain and wind storms," said Squire George T. Baldwin, of Cairo, Saturday.

The loss of Arch Melton, on the Chris. Whittle place, was about 25 acres of corn, and he is said to have only two acres left out of 14 acres of tobacco.

The farm of Col. R. H. Sospe in the bottom is said to have sustained a loss of 100 acres of corn.—Henderson Journal.

Card Of Thanks

To our neighbors and friends who so kindly and in so many ways assisted us during the recent sickness in our family, we wish to express our sincere thanks and deepest gratitude. And especially do we thank those who were so thoughtful of Orlin in his last illness and sent him so many beautiful flowers from time to time. He was so sick, and suffered so much, yet he often spoke of and called to see the flowers that had been sent him. It was such a pleasure to him and so much comfort to us to know that he had been so kindly remembered.

To each and everyone who in any way rendered us assistance or gave us words of consolation during these dark and dreary hours we thank from the very depths of our hearts and assure each of you that by your many acts of kindness and words of consolation, it made our burden easier to bear.

Very respectfully,
A. C. Moore and family.

Democratic Primary Election

Fourth Judicial District Saturday Aug., 28, 1909.

Princeton, Ky., July 14, 1909.

The Democratic Executive Committee for the Fourth Judicial District of Kentucky, composed of the counties of Hopkins, Caldwell, Crittenden and Livingston, this day, in accordance with a call made by the Chairman of the said Fourth Judicial District of Kentucky, assembled in this city in executive session, being desirous of holding a Primary Election under the provisions made and provided in such cases, to nominate candidates for the offices of Circuit Judge and Commonwealth Attorney of the said Fourth Judicial District of Kentucky, do now call and direct and hereby give public notice that a Democratic Primary for the purpose of nominating candidates for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth Attorney for the Fourth Judicial District of Kentucky, will be held in the said counties of Hopkins, Caldwell, Crittenden and Livingston, and the polls for this purpose will be opened in the various voting precincts of said counties of Hopkins, Caldwell, Crittenden and Livingston, at the usual voting places therein on the 28th day of August, 1909, between the hours of 6 o'clock a. m., and 4 o'clock p. m. as required by law.

Sell's Growing Crop of Corn.

Fearing the total destruction of his crop of 50 acres of fine corn in the river bottom, Newt Bracy, last week, sold it to Seldon Ainsworth for $750.

The crop is promising and if not damaged by the overflow will be worth more than three times the price paid. Men with money can take these risks.

AN ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.

A bold attempt at robbery was made Saturday night as a number of persons were returning from Maxwell Park, where they had been to witness a ball game.

Mrs. Sarah Gill, manager of the Gill House, who was one of the party on their return home from the park, was walking along a short distance in advance of several others. As she was crossing Depot street going toward her hotel on Main street, some one suddenly emerged from the roadside and, seizing her, attempted to get possession of the handbag which she carried with her.

Mrs. Gill, however, was equal to the occasion. Instead of wasting time by screaming, calling for a policeman, or any of the other conventional modes of procedures under such circumstances, she wrested herself from the grip of her assailant, and dealt him a Jeffreys-like blow with her fist which, landing on his head, sent him to the ground. Mrs. Gill then left him and went home. By the time the others, who had witnessed the scene from a distance, came up the man had risen and disappeared. Mrs. Gill did not recognize the would-be robber, but says he was a white man. Her hand was somewhat bruised and the handbag badly torn, otherwise no injury was done.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

Having leased the "CRITTENDEN RECORD-PRESS" newspaper plant, and quarters to N. E. Calmes, of Sturgis. I desire in retiring as Editor to commend my successor to the readers and patrons of this publication. During the past six years I have done with the paper as I do with all matters with which I am connected—the best I could under all conditions and all circumstances.

The paper has prospered and the most uniform courtesy and kindness has at all times characterized the treatment of patrons toward the Editor who took charge entirely in experienced in newspaper work. Therefore the compliments which have come to us are prized, and the fact that we have had no complaints is not forgotten. Mr. Calmes, my successor, is a newspaper man and can improve all the details of the paper. For thirty years his gifted pen has pleased his readers in different parts of the land. He is a correspondent any paper would like to secure, a friend in time of need and an editor whose trenchant pen and bright mind will from the start be felt in old Crittenden and where ever the RECORD-PRESS is read. That he may be a benefit to Marion and vicinity is my belief and desire.

S. M. JENKINS.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to thank the good friends and neighbors for their kindness and care in the sickness and death of dear mother, Martha Holton, y God's blessings rest upon and all of them.

Best Stomach Remedy Free

It is an old saying that if the stomach is sound the whole body is safe, because so much depends upon the proper working of the stomach. Many persons find themselves with a disorder of the stomach which produces dyspepsia or a peculiar state of biliousness.

If you suffer from both stomach trouble and constipation you are on the way to a very serious disease. From just such conditions come appendicitis, rheumatism, skin diseases and similar disorders, because the waste matter that should have been dispelled from the system through the bowels is found to remain in the blood and vitiate it. What is needed at this point is not simply a violent cathartic tablet or salt, which usually does more harm than good, but a gentle laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup, Pepson, which people have been using for these ailments for nearly a quarter of a century. It cured the C. & O. men of carbuncles, also of stomach trouble of long standing, also William Voll, of 903 Ellison St., Louisville, Ky., who had the trouble for fifteen years.

However, if you have stomach trouble you want to know from personal experience with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepson will do for you. If so, send your name to the doctor and a free trial bottle will be sent you. You are urged to send for the free bottle, as the results from it will be the best recommendation of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepson.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Sees Mother Grow Young.

"It would be hard to overstate the wonderful change in my mother since she began to use Electric Bitters," writes Mrs. W. L. Gilpatrick, of Danforth, Me. "Although past 70 she seems really to be growing young again. She suffered untold misery from dyspepsia for 20 years. At last she could neither eat, drink nor sleep. Doctors gave her up and all remedies failed till Electric Bitters worked such wonders for her health." They invigorate all vital organs, cure Liver and Kidney troubles, induce sleep, impart strength and appetite. Only 50 cents at Haynes & Taylor and Jas. H. Orme's rug stores.

Education.

Aboue sixth century, B. C., the Commonwealth, of Athens, the leading y of the Ionians, elected Solon, chief ruler and bestowed upon him infinite power and authority. He gave to Athens a constitutional code of laws, political, religious, social and educational. These were very different from those, Lycurgus, to Sparta.

Especially different was the system of education provided for. It differed in many ways, and therefore it differed in education methods of instruction, sport and attendance.

But the aim of education today does not mean to prepare men for war but for civil life. It not only means to develop the mind, but the heart, muscle and willpower as well.

Kentucky is about thirty-seven in education & a great part of our people live in the country, and the question of the education which the country boy and girl should receive is one of high importance to the Commonwealth. And it is a problem most likely better looked. When educators assemble, it is the college man and the citizen teacher who are at the front. The needs of the city schools and the rarer method for their management are more or less prominent before the public. The country school and the country school teacher, out of sight, and forgotten. Now let us consider what are the needs of those country boys and girls. They have a good physical start in country out-of-door life, but he comes the pull, where shall they & the ideals of life, the principles of conduct, the inspiration and motives of achievement that shall fit them to make the most of themselves and their families? By the fact, at they are far from town, they may be sheltered from many temptations and evils of city life. But, they are in special need of the awakening voice and the guiding hand that shall put them in step with the progressive force of the world and make them share in the best elements of civilization.

Could we but see every country home beautified in its surroundings, its humble hearth, greedy a shelf of books. It would take to make a man fully competent to manage the affairs of school.

The people of Kentucky have been very slow in learning, some times they will say, I have beaten my children, but they never think any thing about their neighbor's children, but remember what is good for your children will be good for i. Every man should take an interest in school affairs, not only in his own home, but in every home. When the whole country gets a good education, the whole country gets a good education and gets right down to business, puts their shoulders to the wheel, then we are going to pull together and raise Kentucky above the thirty-seventh mark in education. Every one of us has got some hard propositions to deal with. I have talked with some who you couldn't tell on the subject, but they had much rather talk to you about hunting, a good pack of hounds and had the ability to tell you when a hunt was running on a cold trail, than to tell you he knew how to spell and could write a business letter. But the time is here, I am glad to say, when we are going to have better schools, better opportunities to acquire an education. So now boys and girls, it's up to you, it's yours if you want it. So now be men, everyone of you, to partake what this fall's school begins, set your high and work downward every day and remember that you are citizens and are laboring to build up not only yourself but your community.
